Churchill Appeals For Goodwill Of French

Friendship Of Countries Is Desired

Premier Declares Hitler Is Resolved To Wipe Out All Of French Nation

LONDON, Oct. 21.—(CP)—Prime Minister Churchill in a broadcast to the French nation tonight asked for the goodwill of the people of Britain's former ally, declaring that "when good people get into trouble because they are attacked and heavily smitten by the vile and wicked of men, they must be careful not to get at loggheads."

Mr. Churchill said that Hitler, when he called this evil man, is resolved to wipe out the French nation.

The speech was also broadcast in English to North America. Appearing in French he said: "Frenchemen, for more than 30 years in peace and war, I have marched with you and I am still marching along the same road to-night."

"I speak to you at your firesides wherever you may be, whether your fortunes are high or low, the prayer around the Louis d'Or is a French coin, the Bridge of France."

Declaring London is bearing up well against the German hordes, Mr. Churchill said: "Our force has more than held its own. We are waiting for the long-promised invasion. Then he called 'the fishes'."

Mr. Churchill described Hitler and Mussolini as "these two villainous creatures" who wished "to carve up France, to one day, to another day, to again a portion of the beast."

He predicted that all Europe, if Hitler "has his way, will be reduced to one uniform bedchamber to be exploited, pillaged and bullied by his Nazi gangsters."

In a fighting speech Mr. Churchill referred to American help and declared: "The crimes of Hitler are bringing upon him and upon all who bring to his system a retribution which many of us will live to see."

The story is not yet finished but it will not be long. We are on his track and so are our friends across the Atlantic coast."

"Do not imagine, as the German enemies and their placers, that we English seek to take your ships and colonies," Mr. Churchill said.

He ended by saying: "The last and soul out of Hitler."

Czech Aids With Bag Of 27 Killed

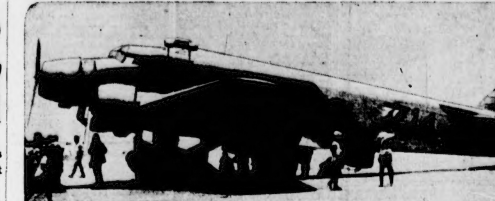

LONDON, Oct. 21.—(CP)—A Czech ace of the Royal Air Force, identified only as Sgt. H. "Joe" P., but credited with a bag of 27 German planes, was killed early this month, it was announced officially.

Malta Naval Base Has Raid Alarm

VALLETTA, Malta, Oct. 21.—(CP)—This naval base was under a raid alarm for more than an hour this morning and hostile planes were seen dogging among the clouds over Malta. However, there were no reports of hostile being dropped.

R.A.F. Receives A Gift From "The High Heavens"

This huge Italian Savoia bomber was forced to land unpowered at this a 100 miles east of Aden and the crew of five aboard were taken prisoners. It is here seen at Aden after being damaged there by a British pilot. It can now be used as a real work horse—against the Italians!

STATEMENT ON SESSION WILL BE MADE SOON

Announcement Is Expected Following Prime Minister's Return To Ottawa

OTTAWA, Oct. 21.—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King's return to the capital after a week's tour through Quebec and the Maritime provinces is expected to speed preparations for the coming session of parliament.

An early decision must be reached on the action to be taken when parliament resumes Nov. 5, and Mr. King has announced he will make this week.

Conservative Leader Hanson, with whom Mr. King has engaged in controversy in the past week, will speak Ottawa about the same time as the prime minister.

Some weeks ago Mr. King announced parliament would meet only formally on Nov. 5 and adjourn to a date in January when the new session would start.

Both Mr. Hanson and Mr. King will not doubt find their efforts on recent developments. These opinions will be taken into consideration in the formation of the government for the future.

A development during the coming session will be the return of the government.

DUTCH TO BLOW UP OIL WELLS IF JAPS ATTACK

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Oct. 21.—(CP)—Oil wells and refineries in the East Indies will be blown "sky high" if the Japanese attacked the islands, a Dutch official said.

The Netherlands Air Force in Britain, said.

He said he was en route to the East Indies, said the Japanese had been warned. He added that the Japanese could be held off a long time.

There was a short lull after mid-night, but the bombers came back again there several before dawn.

One plane was shot down in flames in a London district. The air ministry announced eight others were destroyed during the day and night. Three British planes were lost.

London's Guns Open Up Great Night Barrage

Terrific Firing Signals Return Of Nazis To Attack After Scattered Raids During Day

LONDON, Oct. 21.—(CP)—Anti-aircraft guns opened up a deafening barrage in the London area when darkness fell on the capital tonight after earlier sporadic firing.

The barrage signalled the return of Nazi raids to the city after a day they had devoted largely to scattered hit-and-run attacks on Britain.

Alarms sounded twice in London during the morning. Two bombs fell on the capital just before the sirens shrieked the first time. The throbs of the invaders' motors was heard during the second alert.

In the first raid, the Germans again sent over fast, single-engine fighters to ruin the anti-aircraft fire in one and two.

Reich, Northern Italy Are Heavily Bombed By Britain's Bombers

WEST ROUTE CHOSEN FOR ALASKA ROAD

New Joint Defence Board Insists On Early Start

By B. T. RICHARDSON
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau
OTTAWA, Oct. 21.—(CP)—Selection of the western route running north of Hamilton, B.C., for the proposed Alaska highway, is reported to have been made, as joint defence regulations between United States and Canada have thrust transportation links to the northward and southward fringes of the continent into the limelight.

Engineering data regarding the Alaska highway is being compiled and is expected to reach Ottawa shortly. Hon. Charles Stewart, chairman of the Board of Transport, Yukon-Alaska International Highway Commission, told The Edmonton Bulletin that the board is expected to receive engineers' reports on the western, or so-called A route, to the north, the commission is reported to be working on the B route, running from Fairbanks along the Rocky Mountain divide.

Stimulus of the Alaska highway project has come, not from the commission as much as from the new joint defence board. The American members of both the commission and the defence board have favored the western, but more difficult route, to the top of southern Alaska peaks.

While the Alaska road is center of interest in the west, reports from Quebec indicate that joint defense projects include construction of roads into far eastern points of Quebec, possibly Labrador.

Links with Alberta will be possible under the Alaska highway as new forested areas are cleared. The Muskoka Pass will link up at Prince George, and another link-up is being formed between Fort St. John and Fairbanks.

By the way, he said, "we have got things better here," but declined to say if they were American manufactured. He declined to discuss any details of heavy bombers available to Britain at present, but a compromise promised to arrange a trip so that newsman will have a chance to see what the minister described as "the finest collection of bombers you would want to see."

Asked where these bombers are to be used Lord Beaverbrook replied: "I am only the figure boy, and I have nothing to do with aircraft production."

DAMAGE NOT GREAT

The minister agreed that German bombs have done damage to some British plants, but replied: "Not greatly," when asked if the long series of enemy attacks had held up aircraft production.

"We always find the damage is never as great as we first believed," he said. He explained that the fact he had called last Sept. 26 for more Defiant fighter planes was because all public talk was centered upon Spitfires and Hurricanes. If enemy aircraft were to be given to production, he said, it would be a "very valuable figure."

British Envoys In Balkans Will Hold Conference

BRUSSELS, Yugoslavia, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Sir Ronald Hoare, British minister in Yugoslavia, will visit Istanbul today, where he presumably is to participate in a meeting of British and French ambassadors to Turkey and the British ministers to Bulgaria and Greece.

His departure caught political observers by surprise since it was at first believed the Istanbul conference would be limited to Turkey and Greece because of strong German influence in Yugoslavia.

Avalanche Of At Least 15,000 Bombs Dropped In Intense Assault On Nazi Invasion Ports

LONDON, Oct. 21.—(CP)—Germany's naval docks at Hamburg and Wilhelmshaven were heavily bombed last night and "a large warship is believed to have been hit," the air ministry announced tonight.

One R.A.F. dive-bomber scored a direct hit which set fire to an undischarged but "important" target in the very heart of Berlin.

Another British pilot, it added, reported what he thought was a hit on a large warship in the naval docks and wharves in Germany.

RAF formations were reported also to have blasted the Krupp works, a large munitions plant, and a number of other industrial centres were simultaneously attacked by aircraft of the bomber command.

In northern Italy, the report said, the battered factories on the Po valley, near the town of Turin and Milan which entailed crossing and re-crossing the Alps, were hit by a heavy raid which had a frontage of the gathering strength of the Royal Air Force.

The day we can take the offensive approach steadily. Colonial troops of Lord Lovell declared in Glasgow.

"MUST CARRY FIGHT"

"We have to carry this fight into enemy's fields. We must not let ourselves up against a position of British troops. The air minister, Lord Lord, declared in Glasgow.

F. D. R. TO DRAW FIRST NUMBER DRAFT LOTTERY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—President Roosevelt will draw the first number in the draft lottery.

Clarence Dickson, selective service director, made the announcement after a conference with Mr. Roosevelt.

The president will pull the first number from the drum of 500,000 numbered balls used in the 1917 draft.

Dickson said that he knew who would take over the bulk of the drawing after Mr. Roosevelt had selected the first number, but he thought the process would take at least 12 hours.

The numbers drawn will correspond with serial numbers of men in the armed forces, but they will not necessarily mean that the men will be called up for training.

No application for postponement will be considered after November 1, the deadline being set for 5 p.m. on that date.

Today's War Moves

By J. W. T. MASON
British United Press Wire Service

INCREASING German economic weakness under the strain of war is indicated by terms of the new trade agreement with Yugoslavia and by Berlin's announcement today that similar commercial treaties will be negotiated with other southeastern European countries.

Despite the day's drama, there is a sense of calm in Berlin. German diplomats are now working to obtain what they believe will be a trade agreement with the Balkan states.

The German are compelling Yugoslavia to freeze present payments in large amounts, for example, in the form of gold, and are demanding credit to be used for the purchase of German goods. The agreement has been agreed to a reduction of the rate of monetary exchange from 100 to 150.

Germany will not allow a national trade union to be formed in Yugoslavia, and will not allow a national trade union to be formed in Yugoslavia.

The new rate of exchange means Yugoslavia will have to give up goods to Germany at a lower rate than it has been doing.

FLOODS CLAIM LIVES OF TWO C.N. TRAINMEN

Engineer and Fireman Of Smithers Die When Bridge Collapses

VANCOUVER, Oct. 21.—(CP)—Death of two railwaymen when part of a Canadian National passenger train plunged through a flood-wrecked bridge was reported from the northern Prince Rupert district Sunday, the first fatalities in floods that have struck five British Columbia areas.

The victims were Engineer J. C. Carpenter and Fireman S. J. Mayer, both of northern Smithers, B.C. They were either killed or drowned when the engine, pulling the freight car of their train went through a bridge over Lorne Creek, about 120 miles east of Prince Rupert.

The train was outbound along the Canadian National northern line running from the north coastal city of Port Rupert to Red Pine Junction and already had been held up by floods. It was proceeding slowly when the bridge collapsed under the weight of the engine, tender and freight cars plunging them into the creek. The remainder of the train sailed on part of the bridge and the track bed.

SECOND WRECK
The wreck occurred Saturday night and was the second on this line in so many days. Clear the "ghost" train enroute to steady the slide which delayed the passenger train, ran into another wreck slide a few miles northwest along the line. The engine was derailed but no one was injured.

The engine, tender and freight car of the wrecked passenger train, while from two others came away from the wreckage. The bodies of the two engineers have not been recovered. Each of them leaves a wife and family of four at Smithers.

Disrupted communications led reports from two other flood zones, while from two others came news that flood waters were receding. In Zebulon, remote mining town on the west coast of Vancouver Island, provincial police reported that waters which flooded the main street to a depth of three feet and forced several families to flee their homes, were dropping.

WATERS REDEED
Flood waters also were reported receding in the interior Bridge river district, where several bridges were washed away, cutting rail communications with a number of large gold mines. At an island in the junction of the Hurley and Cedar rivers, flood waters had receded to a depth of 30 feet.

Three other small bridges were washed out at Pioneer in the same district, and a logging bridge was carried away at Pacific Eastern. At one point a farmer was forced to swim 150 lbs. to safety.

Telegraph lines were disturbed at the coastal district of Kleina, where several families were rescued by the flood waters.

Dorothy Dix Says:

Every woman who follows what is regularly called a "Dorothy"—which means in feminine doing any kind of work outside of the home—has had hundreds of husbands say to her, "Oh, how I love you!" But life must be an awful and dreary thing, when I have just done nothing! Wherever the careerist smokes and smokes and tries to look great and famous if she is a nobody, it is so ironic that the women who do the most important work in the world, and the only women who are absolutely essential to the existence of the wife and mother—so to speak—be their calling and put so small a value on their work.

It would be humorous, if it were not so pathetic that the women who perform efficiently the most complicated job on earth and who work more hours a day than any other class, have no regard for themselves as having no occupation and have no pride in their accomplishments.

Yet this is too sadly true. It is because women do not value their work as a mental calling instead of a mere job, that they are in the mood of their own minds to be ready to start shops, or to go into the home and cook good dinners and take care of the baby.

We would save half the social problems of the world if women would be taught to take a pride in being superior to their husbands and mothers and housewives, and if they would work as hard to make a living as they do to make a hit as a night-club dancer, or a hotel hostess.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELKROD

As soon as the baby has begun to crawl, the mother who comes terribly concerned about the baby's health, and who feels that for the baby to be healthy, it must be kept in a warm training pants and not in a diaper.

It is the exceptional child who is trained for bladder control well before the 18th month, and who, therefore, may happen occasionally for some months after this. Mothers may be sure that their babies will be able to hold their urine and feces until they are old enough to do so.

Starting the training toward control at about 15 months, is a better policy, when the baby's chances of success are scant, is a better policy, when the baby's chances of success are scant, is a better policy, when the baby's chances of success are scant.

It is a month or two that would take him months at an earlier age. His speedy success encourages him while the humiliations of failure make him feel that he is being punished for a bad deed.

Bowel training can be more easily accomplished than bladder training, only because the chances of "catching" the child are so much better. The mother should make a practice to note down on a chart the times when the child voids. This will make it possible to use these hours as the basis for training.

Most of the time, when the child is voiding, he is in a state of relaxation, and the mother should take advantage of this to train him.

When the mother adopts an air of persuasion and offers praise when the child voids, she is more likely to succeed than when she is stern and punitive.

To be sure, children and mold their characters into fine and noble men and women in the share of the love and affection of their mothers. But the women who are privileged to do these things are disappointed.

All of which makes us wonder why the women do not enjoy the career of motherhood more.

MYRTLE MEYER ELKROD is a writer of fiction and a mother of three children.

Low Cost Cuts Of Meat High Nutrition Value

Minute Make-Ups

By Mrs. GAYNOR MADDOX

Good meat at low cost is part of our home defence economy. In low cost cuts there is no variety. Meat is a complete source of protein which builds and repairs muscles and keeps them firm and strong. Most also contains essential vitamins, especially the B vitamins.

These include: choline, iron, zinc, phosphorus, calcium, potassium, sodium, magnesium, copper, manganese, selenium, and chromium. These are all essential for the body's health.

There's nothing that gives you a transient but consistent feeling of social security like a new hat and a fur coat. The hat comes at a price, of course, but the facial you can do yourself.

Put oil on your face first. An oil of good oil, olive or mineral. Rub it in with a massaging movement. With a washcloth wring out of hot water remove the oil and dry your face. Then apply a whipped white egg to your face.

After 15 minutes you can remove the dried white with a washcloth dipped in cold water. You face accidentally a bit of oil. Now dry your best job with make-up and put on the hat. If you feel it, knowing that you are with friends and influence people.

What To Do

There is a common belief that female dogs are more intelligent than males, but this is all bunk, according to Kinney and Honegutsky's book, "How To Raise a Dog." These reputable authors say: "I have not found females any more intelligent than males, despite the prevalent rumor to that effect. I have seen reports of a couple of experiments conducted along these lines and have found them to be just about 50-50."

There is no essential difference in intelligence between male and female dogs, Kinney concludes. Neither is it true that females are more affectionate than males.

Your Waistline, Sir!

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Below are outlined a few exercises borrowed from the "Dorothy" column. If the average man would take them voluntarily, they would do him a great deal of good. But, first, here are a few rules: Wait at least half an hour after a meal to exercise. Do not exercise in a room where the temperature is below 60 degrees. Do not exercise in a room where the temperature is below 60 degrees.

1. Stand erect, hands on hips, abdominal muscles pulled up, back straight and chin in. Keeping hips square to front, twist vigorously at the waist, first in one direction, then the other. Six times will do for a starter.

2. Stand erect, hands on hips, abdominal muscles pulled up, back straight and chin in. Keeping hips square to front, twist vigorously at the waist, first in one direction, then the other. Six times will do for a starter.

3. Stand with feet together and parallel, arms down at sides. Swing arms up over shoulders, raising right leg and at the same time, kick right leg straight out to side from the knee back in position and repeat, kicking with left leg. Keep going 20 counts.

4. Get down in the "sprinter's position" with weight partly supported by knees. Arms straight, legs drawn up, right leg with ball of foot on floor, right leg through the back and not straight. Change position, bringing right leg up, thrusting left leg back. Repeat 20 times.

5. Stand with feet together and parallel, arms down at sides. Swing arms up over shoulders, raising right leg and at the same time, kick right leg straight out to side from the knee back in position and repeat, kicking with left leg. Keep going 20 counts.

Playground of War

With hours each day spent huddled in cramped, underground air raid shelters, British children have to make each "all clear" minute in the air and sunshine count. So here, in central London, they join hands for a game of "Ring Around the Rosie" between rows of shelters to which they move at any moment, have to flee.

American Pilots Fly With A.T.A.

Among the 200 pilots of the A.T.A. (Air Transport Auxiliary) are several Americans. These men are sent to the R.A.F. but are directly under Lord Beaverbrook, the Minister for Aircraft Production, and their job is to ferry planes, fighters and bombers of various types from the factories to the aerodromes in various parts of the country. The photo shows Ralph Canning, from California, sleeping out of a Ruffin, and Ken Kiewer (left) another American, from California, examining the controls of the plane. Canning is with "Ogre" A. V. H. Laurens (center) and a British pilot. Laurens comes from Toronto. He is 24 years of age and the youngest all-round pilot and also a well-known jigger player.

Ontario's new volunteer constabulary will serve without pay, and in addition each member of organization has to pay $25 for a uniform, which consists of a blue tunic with khaki breeches.

Indian Chief Buys War Savings Stamps

Chief Bearpaw, of the Sisseton Indian Tribe, gives a lead to his people in the regular purchase of War Savings Stamps. He is shown, with his wife and child, purchasing stamps at a street booth operated by the women in Calgary.

Another Nazi "Down For Good"

Austrian Nazi flyer, wounded in the arm and leg, is assisted through a London railway station by a railway and a military policeman as he goes his way to an internment camp. He was a member of a group of German fliers who had been shot down over England recently, which also included the crew of a bomber which had machine-gunned a town.

Duke Chats With Londoners

The Duke of Kent chats with a woman in London's crowded street while on a tour of anti-aircraft stations in the city. He continued his sight-seeing on an alarm during the inspection trip.

Nazi Troops in Rumania Give Balkans New War Scare

Fears of a new axis stroke in the Balkans arose when German troops began arriving in Rumania, ostensibly to guard oil fields, vital to the Nazi war machine, against reported British-Rumanian plan to blow them up in event of invasion. Turkey and Greece fear troops may cross their borders to give Italy and Germany a solid base for launching attacks on the British in Africa.

Do They Look As Though They've Been Under Bombardment?

Nurses, orderlies and patients in an east London hospital have broad smiles for the camera as they leave their bomb-wrecked building after recent German air raid. This was the 21st London hospital to be struck by bombs.

Claimed to Fly Fastest and Farthest

After inspecting this new pursuit plane, built for the U.S. Navy by Dornier Aircraft at East Hartford, Conn., Lt. Admiral John H. Towers declared it "the fastest in the world." Best speed was not claimed but is reported capable of more than 400 miles per hour. Cruising range of the 2600-horsepower motor is 2100 miles, compared with the 800-mile limit of the sea pursuit ships now in service.
